It's at the Harrisburg Mall in Dash. I ordered two cheeseburgers and checkers. They forgot one of my fries. I immediately went back to the counter and they let me. ... Another one. No big deal, but it would be if I took it to go and figure it out later. The fries are great. The burger is smaller than it looks on the picture menu on the wall, but it was good. So, I'd say go for the fries! They're really good. In October, it will also be a place to get fast food. Don Ziegler Jr., who also owns beer distributor Case and Cag Shrewsbury, is opening a checkers drive-in just outside the confines of the Manchester borough of East Manchester Township. The new restaurant will be located between Ace Hardware and Schatz on George Street in a lot formerly used to store Manchester for car washes and storage.Checkers specialise in burgers, sausages, crisps and smoothies. One of the more unusual items on the menu is funnel cake fries. MORE: Springettsberry Twp. & amp; Dillsburg Giants Begin Renovations as Part of $11.4M Investment ProjectMore: Looking to Eat Out? Here are restaurants that have al fresco dining at York CountyThe restaurat also sets up perfectly for social disengagement. With drive-up windows and windows taking place, there are no seats inside. A modular building arrived at the scene on Tuesday, and Zeigler is shooting for the early October opening. It will be the third location in central Pennsylvania, joining Checkers in Harrisburg and Lancaster. The 1968 York Graduate Center started looking for franchise opportunities several years ago, when it became concerned about the future of beer distributors. He liked the taste of checkers' food and the fact that there weren't many in the area, so he checked out achieving a franchise. When I contacted Checkers, someone came to the house 15 or 16 months ago and had a few questions, Ziegler recounted. I got a call a few weeks later and was invited to headquarters in Tampa, and they told us what they had. Ziegler said he met with people at different levels in the company, and two days later they called to offer him the franchise. It started a lengthy permit process with various municipal and state agencies to get the property ready. Ziegler's son Tom, a graduate of North eastern high school, will serve as one of the restaurant's executives. The day-to-day business will be handled by Chris Lewis, who has more than 20 years of experience working in fast food stores. The three are in Frederick, Maryland for four weeks of training. We get training in every position, Tom said. In the third or fourth week, we can tell someone else how to do it. Works. They also get to try a lot of the food while they study the works. I also tried a lot of things when I was in Florida, Don said. Yesterday I made a hamburger and today I made a hot dog. Good breakfast. Don said he expects to have 25 to 30 employees, most of them part-time, once they get checkers up and running. McDonald's and Savoy are the only fast-food restaurants in the immediate location checkers, but there are also a handful of pizzerias, Bobcat cream and family-style restaurants in the area.
